Treasure It

RECREATE RESPONSIBLY
IN WESTERN MONTANA

Fire safety. © GLACIER COUNTRY

While spending time in the great outdoors, it's important to recreate responsibly. When recreating on tribal and public lands and trails, in Glacier National Park, and everywhere in between, we can all do our part to preserve and protect this very special place.

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

Plan Ahead and Be Prepared

Adequate legwork ensures safer, more enjoyable travels and minimizes impact on Montana's resources and lands. Before you head out, know what's open and when; be aware of fire restrictions, road closures and weather forecasts; figure out where gas stations and EV charging stations are; be aware that cell service may be spotty; and consider your skill level and activity limits. If you're recreating with pets, know where they are and are not permitted and follow posted regulations.

PLAY IT SAFE

Pack the Right Gear and Know Your Limits

Knowing your physical limitations, engaging in activities that match your skill level, and traveling with the appropriate provisions (water, food, and safety gear—depending on the situation) all reduce your risk of injury. When you're headed into the backcountry during the winter months, avalanche safety should be top of mind. Get educated, stay within bounds at ski resorts, and, when in doubt, go with a guide. When it comes to water, know how to swim and always wear a personal flotation device. Keep in mind that Montana waters can be cold year-round.

EXPLORE MINDFULLY

Be Thoughtful and Aware

Exploring local parks, trails and public spaces is a privilege that comes with responsibility. Being mindful of your impact on these environments ensures they remain enjoyable for everyone. Be good stewards of the land, and also embrace inclusivity in the outdoors by respecting fellow adventurers. Additionally, support our communities and small businesses by patronizing local establishments with kindness, patience and respect.

LEAVE NO TRACE

Minimize Your Impact

Please respect all public lands, waterways, tribal lands and local communities by leaving what you find, traveling and camping on durable surfaces, disposing of human and pet waste properly, minimizing campfire impacts, and respecting wildlife. Leave these spaces better than you found them, ensuring that their natural allure remains intact for generations to come. Please treasure the Treasure State.

TREAD LIGHTLY

Take Care of Our Trails and Waterways

When recreating on motorized vehicles, we can ensure our trails, rivers and lakes are accessible, healthy and beautiful for all to enjoy. Please do your part by staying in designated areas and keeping trails and waterways clean and litter free, minimizing your impact. Take the initiative to understand and uphold responsible recreation practices tailored to your specific motorized activities.

KEEP OUR WATERS CLEAN

Help Prevent Aquatic Invasive Species

Preserving the health of Montana's waters is imperative to safeguarding the delicate balance of aquatic ecosystems. Aquatic Invasive Species (AIS)—non-native plants, animals and pathogens—pose a significant threat to Montana's environment and economy. Preventing their spread is crucial. Please adhere to Clean.Drain.Dry. principles and comply with watercraft inspection requirements to help preserve the purity and vitality of our waterways.

BE WILDLIFE WISE

Act Responsibly Around Wild Animals

It's important to be smart around wildlife to keep both you and them safe. View wildlife from a safe distance. Never approach, touch or feed wildlife. Let wildlife know you're nearby by speaking loudly or calling "hey bear" every so often as to not surprise them. When hiking, be sure to carry bear spray and know how to use it properly. It's also vital to help preserve and enhance wildlife habitat by practicing Leave No Trace principles.

RESPECT TRIBAL LANDS

Be Considerate in Sacred Places

It's crucial to recognize and acknowledge when you enter tribal lands; they hold significant cultural and spiritual value. Mindfulness and reverence for a tribe's distinct culture, history and traditions are paramount. Prior to visiting, familiarize yourself with tribal policies and guidelines, ensuring compliance and understanding the protocols for entry (including where you are and are not allowed). Additionally, secure a tribal conservation permit before engaging in recreational activities on tribal land.

FOLLOW FIRE SAFETY

Help Prevent Wildland Fires

Western Montana is susceptible to wildland fire in the dry summer months. Before you head out, know what fire restrictions (and stages) are in place, if any, and follow them accordingly. Attend to and extinguish your campfire properly and completely. Act responsibly in areas where wildland fires are burning. Also, for those who tow boats, RVs and trailers, practice safe towing—dragging chains can throw sparks on roadways. Your vigilance can help protect our cherished landscapes and communities from the devastating impact of wildland fires.

Glacier National Park

A PLACE YOU HAVE TO SEE TO BELIEVE

VEHICLE RESERVATION FOR GLACIER NATIONAL PARK: Vehicle reservations are required for some areas of the park from 6 a.m. to 3 p.m., including the west entrance of the Going-to-the-Sun Road and the North Fork, May 24 to September 8, 2024, and, Many Glacier, July 1 to September 8, 2024. You will need to purchase a one day vehicle reservation in advance for each area on recreation.gov. In addition to vehicle reservations, park passes are required for park entrance.

Learn more here:

Glacier National Park is altogether stunning. Massive prehistoric glaciers once cut through this landscape, leaving 1 million acres of awe-inspiring terrain carved into jagged mountain peaks, hanging valleys and high alpine meadows. Today, the park is home to hundreds of lakes, 734 miles of maintained trails, rolling foothills, striking rock faces, cascading waterfalls, 25 glaciers and some of the most jaw-dropping views in the world.

If it's your first visit to the park, you're well-advised to set out on the Going-to-the-Sun Road; just note that you'll need to plan ahead for a vehicle reservation, as described in the box on the previous page. This 50-mile drive is both an engineering marvel and National Historic Landmark, and it's pretty easy on the eyes. The road connects West Glacier and St. Mary—winding through some of the country's most beautiful scenery and cresting the Continental Divide at 6,646 feet at Logan Pass. You can drive private vehicles (size restrictions apply) on park roads, but plan to soak up the sights and leave the driving to someone else by booking an interpretive red bus tour with Glacier National Park Lodges or a Blackfeet interpretive tour with Sun Tours. Both tours operate May to October and are an insightful and educational way to learn about the park, its history and its terrain. Sun Tours offers the chance to see the park from the cultural and historical perspective of the Blackfeet Tribe. The National Park Service also operates a free shuttle system from July to Labor Day. The Going-to-the-Sun Road is the most visited place in Glacier National Park, but the park is also home to other exceptionally beautiful and less-explored areas. Visit the North Fork—home to Kintla and Bowman lakes—Two Medicine, Many Glacier and Goat Haunt. Visitors with service reservations in the park (lodging, camping, commercial tours) do not need a vehicle reservation for that day in that section of the park.

Red bus tour. © ANDY AUSTIN

Exploring the park by water and trail is easy, with concessionaires, businesses and outfitters in and around the park providing a variety of travel options. Inside the park, take a guided hiking or biking trip with Glacier Guides, hop aboard one of Glacier Park Boat Company's historic wooden boats, set out on a horseback trail ride with Swan Mountain Outfitters or embark on a multiday hiking trip with Travel Montana. Outside the park, sign up for a whitewater or scenic float trip on the Middle Fork of the Flathead River (which borders the park) with one of the rafting companies in West Glacier. Not sure where to begin? Glacier Planner can help you plan your trip to the park.

Summer sees the most visitors here, but it's important to note that Glacier National Park is open—and breathtaking—all year long. During fall, wildlife-watching opportunities are in abundance and the autumn foliage is some of Montana's most vibrant. Winter transforms the park into a life-size snow globe, and fresh, pristine powder is ideal for snowshoeing, cross-country skiing and backcountry exploration. Spring is a draw for hikers and bikers, with early-season access on the Going-to-the-Sun Road before it opens to vehicular traffic. In the fall, bicyclists and hikers can also access the road vehicle-free. Though services within the park are limited during non-peak seasons, the communities just outside the park offer lodging and amenities.

Please travel and recreate responsibly. That means planning ahead and being prepared. Monitor park dashboards and social channels for weather and gate information, parking lot availability, and closures: glaciermt.com/gtsr. Have a backup plan in the event that the park is at capacity. Learn more at glaciermt.com/outside-glacier-park.

Broaden Your Perspective

EXPAND YOUR TRIP BEYOND THE PARK

Chances are, you're here to see Glacier National Park, and we couldn't be happier to show it off. It's a pretty amazing year-round destination, and there are some incredible things to see and do beyond park boundaries as well—especially during the high season of summer or when services within the park are limited. We've rounded up 10 of our favorite things to do just outside the park. Remember to take your time exploring so you don't miss any of the stunning scenery. Note that some of our roads are a bit rural and cell service can be spotty. We like it this way, and we suspect you will, too.

1. Don't miss Two Sisters Café, just outside the park near Babb on the Blackfeet Indian Reservation. Enjoy locally sourced, handmade fare.
2. Tee up at Meadow Lake Golf Course in Columbia Falls, rated 4.5 stars by Golf Digest and "must play" by Golf Magazine.
3. Saddle up for a horseback-riding adventure with Swan Mountain Outfitters through breathtaking mountains, meadows and valleys.
4. Paddle Hungry Horse Reservoir in a kayak from Sky Eco Rentals.
5. Experience quintessential Montana and book a fly-fishing trip with Glacier Anglers.
6. Get the ultimate treetop experience at Glacier Highline Adventure Park in Coram.
7. Rent a stand-up paddleboard from Glacier Raft Company or let them guide the way on a scenic raft trip.
8. Visit Columbia Falls for great food, Montana beer, locally owned shops and a weekly summer farmers market.
9. Take the train to Glacier National Park. Ride west to east from Whitefish through the park to Cut Bank.
10. Visit the Museum of the Plains Indian in Browning for an American Indian history lesson.

A MONTANA ROAD TRIP

Glacier to Yellowstone

Many travelers to Montana wisely plan their trips to include both our national parks: Glacier and Yellowstone. To help make the most of your time, we've put together four ideal road-trip routes that all offer an unforgettable park-to-park experience, with plenty of sightseeing along the way.

Find more park-to-park inspiration here:

Bitterroot River. © JASON SAVAGE

Glacier → Bitterroot Valley → Yellowstone

ROUTE: West Glacier to West Yellowstone, 465 miles

After exploring Glacier National Park and traversing the jaw-dropping Going-to-the-Sun Road, get off the beaten path. Begin your journey from West Glacier and stop in the storybook village of Bigfork before traveling south along the east side of Flathead Lake—dotted with fruit stands selling Flathead cherries in late summer. Then travel toward Missoula through the Flathead Indian Reservation. Highlights along the way include the Miracle of America Museum, Three Chiefs Cultural Center and views of the Mission Mountains. Stop in Missoula and grab a bite. From there, drive south along the Bitterroot River exploring the small towns along the way. Don't miss the Daly Mansion and the Lee Metcalf National Wildlife Refuge. Spend the night in Stevensville or Hamilton. Just west of Wisdom, explore the Big Hole National Battlefield and then make your way to Wisdom and the ghost towns of Bannack, Virginia City and Nevada City before landing in West Yellowstone.

Seeley Swan area. © JASON SAVAGE

Glacier → Seeley Swan Valley → Yellowstone

ROUTE: West Glacier to Gardiner, 512 miles

This scenic route takes you through the pristine Seeley Swan Valley along one of the prettiest roads in all of Montana. After a Glacier National Park adventure, make your way from West Glacier to Bigfork—an idyllic community on the northeast shore of Flathead Lake. From there you'll take the Seeley Swan scenic drive between Swan Lake and Seeley Lake, stopping along the way at Holland Lake. If you're up for an adventure, the Clearwater Canoe Trail is a must. This peaceful float is exceptionally scenic and perfect for families. Next up, don't miss the chance to pull over in the tiny town of Ovando before passing through Helena, our state capital. From there, explore the hip university town of Bozeman and the vibrant community of Livingston. As you make your way south to Gardiner—the northeast entrance to Yellowstone National Park—take in the exceptional beauty of the Paradise Valley along the Yellowstone River. Have your fly rod ready, and also be sure to stop for a soak at one of two hot springs in the area.

Ninepipes National Wildlife Refuge. © NOAH COUSER

Glacier → Missoula → Yellowstone

ROUTE: West Glacier to West Yellowstone, 430 miles

This route is mostly freeway, but, around here, even those are scenic. Hit the road from West Glacier and travel south along the west side of Flathead Lake. Stop in Polson at the southern tip of the lake on the Flathead Indian Reservation. Between Polson and Missoula, visit the Pablo and Ninepipe national wildlife refuges and the Ninepipes Museum of Early Montana, which boasts a walking trail and Mission Mountain views. The Allentown Restaurant is right next door. In Missoula, you'll want to do it all. Explore downtown, overflowing with artisan breweries, distilleries, culinary hot spots, galleries and eclectic local shops. Walk the Riverfront Trail along the Clark Fork River and watch the surfers at Brennan's Wave before settling in for a stay at any number of incredible lodging options. From Missoula, travel past the richest hill on earth—Butte's Berkeley Pit, named for the estimated $48 billion worth of metal extracted here—and Lewis and Clark Caverns State Park. In Ennis you'll find phenomenal fly-fishing on the Madison River. Cast a line before you land in West Yellowstone.

4

St. Mary Overlook. © ANDY AUSTIN

Glacier → Rocky Mountain Front → Yellowstone

ROUTE: St. Mary to Gardiner, 378 miles

If you want to hit Montana's open roads and experience the wonder of the Rocky Mountain Front—aka where the plains meet the Rocky Mountains—this is the route for you. After traversing one of the most beautiful drives in the U.S., the Going-to-the-Sun Road in Glacier National Park, your journey starts in St. Mary on the Blackfeet Indian Reservation. Don't miss a visit to the Museum of the Plains Indian, in Browning, for a look at the richly varied arts of the Northern Plains Tribal peoples. From there, the Rocky Mountain Front scenery will blow you away. Stop in the tiny communities of Choteau and Augusta for a quaint glimpse of life in small-town Montana. Visit local shops and watering holes, and explore easily accessible hikes and lakes in the area. You'll pass through Montana's capital city of Helena before landing in Bozeman. There's so much to do in Bozeman it warrants an overnight. Then, follow the famed Yellowstone River to Gardiner via the awe-inspiring Paradise Valley.

East Glacier Park. © ANDY AUSTIN

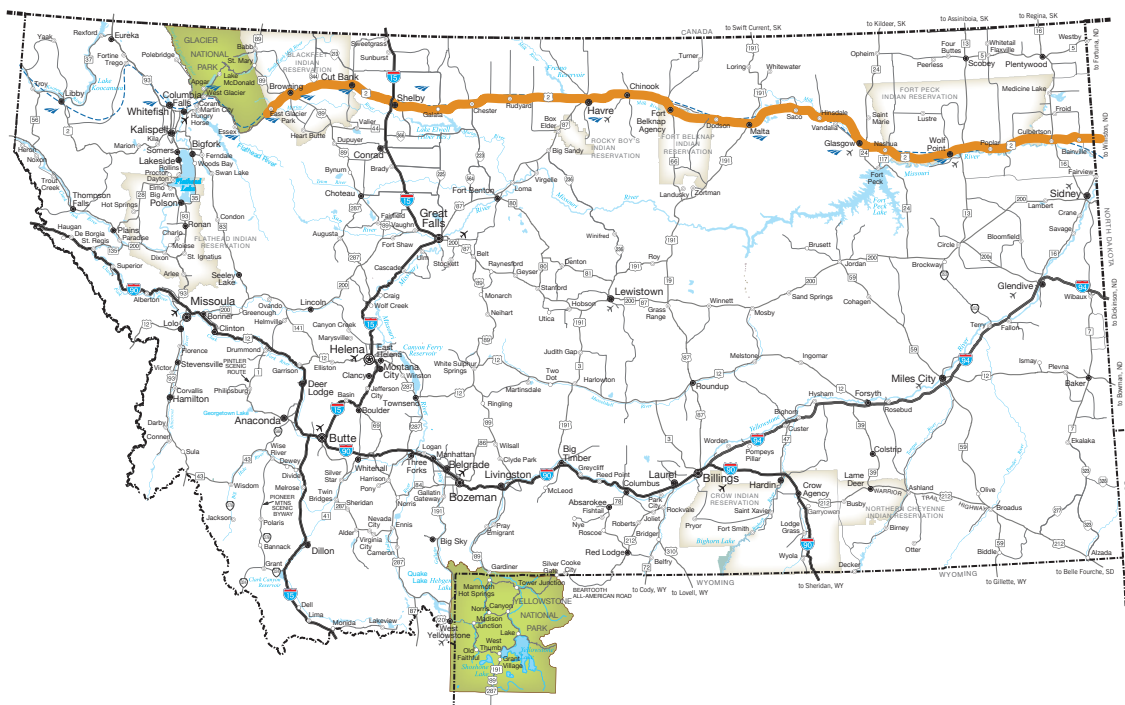

Cut Bank Trail. © GLACIER COUNTRY

The Montana Hi-Line: A Road Trip

ROUTE: Eastern Montana to East Glacier Park, 382 miles

Begin your road trip on Montana's Hi-Line in beautiful Missouri River Country, where you'll explore the unique land formations of the Great Plains. Attractions along the way include Fort Peck Lake and the Bowdoin National Wildlife Refuge. Next, make your way to Central Montana. In Havre, visit Havre Beneath the Streets, Beaver Creek Park and the Historic Railroad District, and top off the day at a local brewery or distillery. In Shelby, don't miss the Carousel Rest Area of Shelby and the Marias Museum of Art and History. Your next stop is Cut Bank, home to plenty of western adventures and abundant outdoor opportunities in the beautiful Rocky Mountain Front. The Cut Bank area offers a golf course and a brewery, as well as services for guided fishing trips and birding trips. Moving on, learn about the culture and heritage of the Blackfeet Nation in Browning with a Cultural Heritage Workshop Hike from Iron Shield Creative, and explore the Museum of the Plains Indian, Lodgepole Gallery, Western Curios and Faught's Blackfeet Trading Post. End your drive in East Glacier Park, the perfect place to begin a Western Montana adventure. As one of the gateways to Glacier National Park, this community is authentically down-to-earth, complete with friendly locals serving up home-cooked meals, coveted huckleberry ice cream and insider tips on area attractions.

A Story Centuries in the Making

LEARN MORE ABOUT THE LAND BEFORE IT WAS MONTANA

Please be a responsible traveler while visiting Tribal Nations. Know when you're on tribal land, be respectful, and secure tribal permits. Learn more here:

TRIBAL NATIONS IN WESTERN MONTANA

Western Montana's Glacier Country sits on the traditional, ancestral territory of the Amskapi Piikani, Ksanka, Séliš, and Qlišpé people. The tribes have a rich oral history and a spiritual tradition of respect for the natural environment.

What is now Glacier National Park, as well as the land east of the park (what is now the Blackfeet Reservation), was the original home of the Blackfeet Indian Tribe. The Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes (CSKT) traditionally inhabited the valleys east of the Continental Divide and hunted on the eastern plains. Each tribe observes and celebrates its own distinct story and heritage, which is a rich tapestry of tradition, art, music, dance, storytelling, adventure, industry and leisure.

There are many opportunities for recreation on both reservations, including hiking, fishing and boating, trail rides, guided trips and more. Please note, a tribal recreation permit is required.

Support tribally owned businesses—like Montana's Duck Lake Lodge in Babb, Backpacker's Ferry in East Glacier Park, Kwataqnuq Resort & Casino in Polson and CSKT Bison Range Gift Shop in Moiese—and look for Native American Made in Montana products.

 Blackfeet Nation. © ANDY AUSTIN

Blackfeet Nation

St. Mary Overlook. © ANDY AUSTIN

For thousands of years, the Blackfeet have occupied the Rocky Mountain region. Originally nomads following the buffalo migration, the Blackfeet are made up of four bands—North Piegan, South Piegan, Blood and Siksika, though members of the Blackfeet Nation in the U.S. primarily descend from the South Piegan.

The Blackfeet Indian Reservation sits along the eastern edge of Glacier National Park encompassing nearly 1.5 million acres of rolling plains and Rocky Mountain Front.

Glacier National Park plays an important role in the history of the Blackfeet Nation.

Learn More About the Blackfeet Nation

Book a day trip with Sun Tours or Iron Shield Creative. Lailani is an Amskapi Pikuni (Blackfeet Nation) tribal member of Aaniiih, Nakoda, Dakota tribal descent and an adventure explorer, photographer, videographer, writer, storyteller who travels throughout Montana sharing stories from an Indigenous perspective. Lailani grew up hearing the stories and history of her tribal people and found purpose and passion in sharing these stories with others. Today she works to share her vision of wild places, Indigenous culture and untamed landscapes to inspire others to explore new understandings and relationships.

"Meeting people, connecting with people and helping them find connection through understanding and learning from our perspective, our stories, our songs, our history—that's my passion, and that's why I've made it my life's work."

Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes

The Flathead Indian Reservation is home to the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes (CSKT), comprising the Bitterroot Salish, Pend d'Oreille and Kootenai tribes.

The Flathead Indian Reservation encompasses 1.317 million acres, including the southern part of Flathead Lake. As you drive along U.S. Highway 93, look for CSKT road signs with placenames in the Salish or Kootenai languages along with their translations.

In the heart of the reservation, you'll find the CSKT Bison Range. This beautiful, 18,500-acre wildlife conservation area is managed by the CSKT and is open to the public. It's the perfect place for a day trip, complete with a visitor center and breathtaking Mission Mountain views.

Learn More About the Confederated Salish & Kootenai Tribes

Visit Three Chiefs Cultural Center in Pablo, Ninepipes Museum of Early Montana in Charlo and Four Winds Indian Trading Post in St. Ignatius. Join the gatherings at Arlee Espapqeyni Celebration and Standing Arrow Powwow.

© GLACIER COUNTRY

Marie is a proud member of the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes, and she has been recognized as a Native American Women Leader in cultural heritage tourism. For more than three decades Marie has worked for her people, learning about the traditional ways, traditional foods, plants and Salish language while establishing and organizing archives. Today, her work at Three Chiefs Cultural Center and the CSKT allows her to continue to teach and share her culture and tribal histories with the people, giving others the chance to learn and understand from a native perspective.

"I love working for our tribes. Helping others learn about who we are as Salish, Pend d'Oreille and Kootenai people helps others understand our perspective. And being able to work with and care for my ancestors' belongings is a treasure. I have great respect for my elders, and I find strength through them."

Experience Flathead Lake

WELCOME TO PRISTINE MONTANA WATER

When you think of Montana, the first thing that probably comes to mind is mountains. That being the case, one of our beloved destinations—Flathead Lake—tends to fly under the radar, which is surprising since it's over 27 miles long, nearly 15 miles wide and 300 feet deep. As the largest natural freshwater lake in the West, Flathead Lake provides unparalleled fishing and recreational opportunities like stand-up paddleboarding, kayaking, boating, fishing and sailing. Plus, with 185 miles of shoreline, there are plenty of places to stop, stay, play and tee up for golf—the Flathead Valley boasts several courses. There are multiple islands on the lake, the largest of which is Wild Horse Island. Created more than 17,000 years ago by heavy glacial activity, this 2,160-acre island serves as a day-use state park. Only accessible by boat, Wild Horse Island is pretty explore-worthy and is a prime wildlife-watching destination, home to wild horses, bighorn sheep, coyotes, deer and a variety of birds. The easiest way to access Flathead Lake is by way of its seven state parks, which, in addition to Wild Horse Island, include Big Arm, Finley Point, Somers Beach, Wayfarers, West Shore and Yellow Bay.

EAT + DRINK: Taste Flathead flavor by picking up the coveted local delicacy—Flathead cherries—at various fruit stands around the lake. For local eats and finely crafted drinks, visit The Raven, Flathead Lake Brewing Company, Finley Point Grill, The Sitting Duck or Woods Bay Wine. See more at glaciermt.com/eat.

STAY: A variety of lodging options can be found around the lake. Be sure to check out these properties: Red Lion Inn & Suites in Polson, Mountain Lake Lodge, Bridge Street Cottages and Flathead Lake Resort in Bigfork, Camp Kapapa in Elmo, Big Arm Resort in Big Arm and Edgewater Resort in Lakeside. GEAR UP FOR THE GREAT OUTDOORS

Find Your Sense of Adventure

It's time to venture outside. From golfing, hiking and biking Montana's exquisite landscape to fly-fishing our famous waters, there's an outdoor playground here for every type of adventure seeker. Gear up and get out—or go with a guide. The mountains are calling, and you must go.

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO: Conservation Licenses are required for ages 12 and older to access most state lands, including wildlife management areas, fishing access sites and wildlife habitat protection areas. This requirement does not include state parks. Learn more at fwp.mt.gov/buyandapply/conservation-license.

Fly-Fishing

CAST A LINE IN A LEGENDARY MONTANA RIVER

Western Montana is known far and wide for incredible fishing. With blue-ribbon trout streams and legendary rivers, there's no lack of water to cast a line and reel in a trophy trout.

GET TO KNOW THE RIVERS

Bitterroot River: Meandering through the Bitterroot Valley from its source south of Hamilton, the Bitterroot River joins the Clark Fork River near Missoula. The big, freestone river (formed mostly by snowmelt) wades like a stream (calm waters and low banks) and is very accessible for anglers, who are also drawn to its epic scenery, gravel bars and islands.

Blackfoot River: Made famous by Norman Maclean's "A River Runs Through It" and a renowned blue-ribbon trout stream, the Blackfoot River meanders through high alpine meadows and steep, forested slopes and is beloved by anglers for its deep pulls, huge eddies, boulder gardens and myriad access sites.

Clark Fork River: Originating near Anaconda, the Clark Fork River defines Missoula and offers an experience for every angler, plus some of the largest brown trout around. This big, flat river flows through the heart of downtown and features very fishable side channels, including some great wade fishing.

Flathead River: The Flathead River is a unique glacial river consisting of three distinct branches: the North Fork, South Fork and Middle Fork, all parts of the National Wild and Scenic River System. Originating from glacial and snow runoff, these rivers run extremely cold and offer the bonus of very low fishing pressure.

Kootenai River: Originating in Kootenay National Park in British Columbia, the Kootenai River flows into the northwest corner of Montana, featuring deep, emerald pools and a mighty flow. Libby Dam holds back this big river, creating Lake Koocanusa—a 90-mile-long reservoir with excellent trout fishing.

Rock Creek: Originating in Philipsburg and located in the Lolo National Forest near Clinton, Rock Creek is a blue-ribbon trout stream offering iconic Montana scenery. A coveted destination for novices and experts alike, Rock Creek touts the most trout per mile for any river in our area and the best salmonfly hatch in Montana.

OUR FAVORITE FLIES

Every angler has their preferred flies. Here are a few of our favorites for fishing Western Montana's rivers and streams.

Parachute Adams

This reliable little bug works every time.

Chubby Chernobyl

These big, ugly foam flies are so versatile.

Pheasant Tail

Hatch or no hatch, don't leave home without 'em.

Bed Head Wooly Bugger

Aggressive trout find these streamers irresistible.

Hiking

EXPLORE OUR INCREDIBLE TRAIL SYSTEMS

With thousands of miles of hiking trails ranging from easy day hikes to multiday backcountry excursions, Glacier Country is a true hiker's haven. Glacier National Park alone has more than 730 miles of trails.

1. Morrell Falls

One of the most popular trails in the Seeley Lake area, this 5.4-mile round-trip out-and-back route leads to Morrell Lake and Morrell Falls at the base of the Swan Mountain Range. This is a late spring through early fall hike, though spring offers the biggest water at the falls and a chance of snow.

2. Blodgett Overlook

Experience this 2.8-mile out-and-back trail near Hamilton. Plan on about 90 minutes to complete this easy, scenic route—a very popular area for birding and hiking with excellent views of Hamilton and Blodgett Canyon. Visit May through October, as trailhead roads are subject to seasonal closure.

© VISIT MONTANA

3. “The M” Mount Sentinel Trail

A Missoula must, this trail leads to the “M” above the University of Montana. This steep, 1.5-mile zigzag path includes 11 switchbacks and gains 620 feet in elevation. It’s extra special at sunset for amazing views and is open year-round, but bring traction in the winter.

GO WITH A GUIDE: Consider taking a hike with experts in the field. Our friends at Glacier Guides and Bitterroot Backpacking are ready to show you the way with a diverse selection of guided hiking trips in Western Montana.

TRAIL SAFETY

- + Plan for all kinds of weather.
- + Dress in layers and broken-in hiking shoes.
- + For more rugged hikes, pack accordingly with things like snacks and a survival/first-aid kit.

- + Bring plenty of water.
- + Always stay on the trail.
- + If you're hiking alone, let someone know where you're going.
- + Respect wildlife. Do not harass or feed them.

- + Carry bear spray and know how to use it—all of Western Montana is bear country.

For more safety guidelines, visit fwp.mt.gov/activities/hiking.

Golfing

GET ON THE GREEN
SOMEWHERE GORGEOUS

King Ranch Golf Course. © GLACIER COUNTRY

Golfing in Montana comes with a rare combination of renowned courses, stunning scenery, and affordability. Our season on the green typically lasts from mid-April through mid-October, and with 29 golf courses, you've got no shortage of places to play.

Wilderness Club

Experience the No. 1 ranked golf course in Montana, designed by the renowned Sir Nick Faldo. Discover the beauty of fairways bordered by majestic ponderosa pines and breathtaking mountain panoramas at this mountain retreat in Eureka just north of Whitefish, purpose-built for families and offering a diverse range of outdoor activities.

Northern Pines Golf Club

Designed by two-time U.S. Open Champion Andy North, Northern Pines golf course in Kalispell is a true masterpiece in the heart of Western Montana's Flathead Valley. Play two distinct nines sculpted from drastically different terrain, with the front paying homage to rolling Scottish links-style golf and the serene back nine offering unique elevation changes along the Stillwater River.

Meadow Lake Golf Course

Golf the Flathead Valley's leading 18-hole championship golf course at Meadow Lake Golf Resort in the vibrant community of Columbia Falls, not far from Glacier National Park. At par 72, Meadow Lake Golf Course was rated by Golf Digest as a 4-1/2 star course and one of the best four public-play golf courses in Montana, and Golf Magazine calls Meadow Lake Golf Course a "must play."

Glacier Park Lodge Golf Course

Tee up at the foot of Dancing Lady Mountain with epic views of Glacier National Park's snowcapped peaks. This historic, nine-hole course in East Glacier Park is the oldest grass greens course in Montana, and every hole is named after a former Blackfeet Nation chief. Enjoy rolling greens, wide fairways and amazing scenery, and possibly even see some wildlife.

Biking PEDAL THROUGH PARADISE

A prime destination for bikers, our diverse trail systems offer family-friendly routes and hardcore downhill mountain biking opportunities.

1. Whitefish Trail

Make your way in minutes from downtown Whitefish to a pristine wilderness setting. Fifteen trailheads currently make up the 47-mile Whitefish Trail system, a natural surface trail offering a series of stacked loops on single tracks and gated logging roads. Bike to scenic overlooks, past sweeping vistas and through prime wildlife habitat, and make it a true getaway with a stay at Whitefish Bike Retreat. E-bikes are not allowed, but bring your fat bike in the winter.

© WHITEFISH LEGACY PARTNERS

2. Route of the Hiawatha

This portion of the Olympian Hiawatha route is noted as one of the most breathtaking scenic stretches of railroad in the country and named a “Hall of Fame” trail by the Rails-to-Trails Conservancy. Operated by Lookout Pass Ski Area, the family-friendly Route of the Hiawatha takes riders through 10 tunnels and across 7 high trestles. This beautiful route is 15 miles one way with a shuttle back to the parking area. Open Memorial Day through mid-September. E-bikes are allowed.

3. Bitterroot Trail

The paved Bitterroot Trail runs parallel to U.S. Highway 93 from Missoula to Hamilton in the beautiful Bitterroot Valley. Ride along the Bitterroot River between the Bitterroot Mountains and the Sapphire Range through the charming small towns of Lolo, Florence, Stevensville, Corvallis, Victor and Hamilton. E-bikes are allowed. This route is 50 miles one way but offers dozens of access points to hop on and off. Open year-round and plowed in the winter.

Accessible Adventures

Western Montana strives to ensure that visitors of all abilities feel welcome here. Among our state parks, national wildlife refuges and rails-to-trails areas you'll find accessible adventures that can be enjoyed by everyone. We are also continually working to improve accessibility in our outdoor spaces to make trails and recreation opportunities accessible to all.

TRAIL OF THE CEDARS GLACIER NATIONAL PARK

This popular 0.9-mile loop trail near Lake McDonald is one of two wheelchair accessible trails in the park. A wooden boardwalk takes visitors through a beautiful cedar and hemlock forest.

LONE PINE STATE PARK

This state park in Kalispell overlooks the breathtaking Flathead Valley and offers an Action Trackchair—an all-terrain wheelchair available free of charge for use on the primary Lone Pine trail system and the ADA accessible overlook. To reserve the Action Trackchair, call 406.755.2706.

ROUTE OF THE HIAWATHA

The Route of the Hiawatha trail is touted as one of the most scenic stretches of railroad in the country. The trail is 15 miles one way on a high-quality dirt/gravel path with a gradual, downhill grade. There is a shuttle at the end, and adaptive equipment can be used on the trail.

MISSOULA MARATHON

Voted one of the top marathons in the U.S., the Missoula Marathon has wheelchair and handcycle divisions in the full and half marathon. Escort cyclists are provided for visually impaired runners as needed to assist with notification of course monitors and traffic control personnel.

DREAM ADAPTIVE EQUIPMENT

DREAM provides year-round accessible programs for all abilities, with trained staff and volunteer instructors, adaptive equipment, and/or adaptive teaching techniques. Activities include Nordic and downhill skiing, snowboarding, biking, paddle sports and motorized watersports.

The Bob Marshall Wilderness Complex

EXPLORING MONTANA'S BEAUTIFUL BACKCOUNTRY

The Chinese Wall in the Bob Marshall Wilderness. © TOMMY MEYER

In Montana, when we really want to “get away from it all” and explore Montana’s backcountry, we head to a place we lovingly refer to as “The Bob.” The Bob Marshall Wilderness Complex is the third-largest wilderness area in the lower 48 and on the traditional lands of the Blackfeet, Salish and Kootenai tribes. These 1.5 million acres of pristine wilderness straddle the Continental Divide and offer a chance to truly escape into the deep backcountry. It’s important to find the exploration route that suits your skill level and scratches your particular adventure itch: Embark on a pack trip, a backcountry hiking trip, a drop-camp or drop-float trip, a fly-fishing trip, or a hunting trip. Get away from it all, entering an area with more than 1,000 miles of trails across jagged peaks, mountain lakes, sparkling streams and wide-open spaces, and experience nature at its finest. Our advice? Go with a guide.

Montana's Backyard Treasures

EXPLORE SOME OF THE BEST STATE PARKS IN THE WEST

If your getaway goals include epic outdoor experiences, big-sky sunshine and fresh mountain air, you've come to the right place. While Glacier National Park and the Bob Marshall Wilderness are both worthy destinations to experience Montana's true nature, there are plenty of other places for authentic outdoor adventures, like our state parks. Montana boasts 55 state parks, 24 of which are in Glacier Country. These parks provides access to some of the state's best nature-based experiences, like camping, fishing, hiking, stargazing and more.

1. Big Arm State Park

Nestled on the shores of Flathead Lake, Big Arm State Park offers a picturesque beachfront, perfect for lake adventures. Visitors enjoy hiking, camping and swimming, as well as boating and fishing, against the backdrop of the stunning Mission Mountains.

2. Fish Creek State Park, Alberton

Fish Creek State Park is perfect for nature lovers, with lush woodlands and creekside trails for hiking and wildlife watching. From Williams Peak Lookout to the pristine emerald pools of Fish Creek, it's a wildlife-rich park with stunning scenery and great fishing.

3. Lake Mary Ronan State Park, Proctor

With its tranquil waters and rugged natural beauty, Lake Mary Ronan State Park is a hidden gem for anglers, kayakers and hikers alike. The park's secluded forest setting and well-maintained trails make it the perfect escape.

4. Lone Pine State Park, Kalispell*

Lone Pine State Park is a haven for hikers, offering panoramic views of the Flathead Valley and the Mission and Swan mountain ranges. Its extensive trail system caters to all skill levels, while its visitor center provides valuable insights into the region's ecology. Bonus: On a clear day, you can see Flathead Lake, Big Mountain, the Jewel Basin and Glacier National Park.

5. Painted Rocks State Park, Darby

Painted Rocks State Park, known for its iconic rock formations and stunning reservoir, is a great spot for watersports and OHV adventures. From boating to picnicking, this park beckons outdoor enthusiasts to explore its unique landscape and off-the-beaten-path, pine-forest setting.

6. Thompson Falls State Park

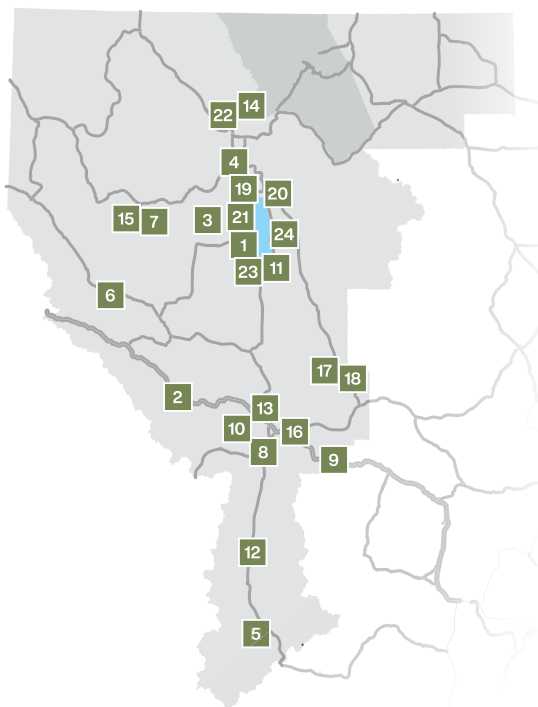

Nestled along the scenic Clark Fork River, Thompson Falls State Park offers abundant trout fishing and wildlife watching opportunities. Its peaceful setting, family fishing pond and riverfront campsites provide a serene retreat.

7. Thompson Chain of Lakes State Park, Libby

Thompson Chain of Lakes State Park boasts shoreline access to 18 lakes, making it perfect for boating, fishing, swimming and more. This interconnected chain of lakes offers endless opportunities for water recreation as well as abundant wildlife.

8. Travelers' Rest State Park, Lolo*

A historical treasure, Travelers' Rest State Park offers the chance to explore the only archaeologically verified campsite of the Lewis and Clark Expedition in the country—a site used by the Salish and other native peoples for centuries.

Good to know.

Dawn and dusk are the best times to see wildlife, especially during the summer months. Western Montana is wild: Keep in mind that you can see wildlife anywhere in the region. When recreating outdoors, be sure to practice proper outdoor safety to ensure your wildlife encounters are positive.

WILDLIFE SAFETY: Wildlife is just that—wild. It's important to act responsibly around wildlife, and it's also vital that, while recreating in the area, we help preserve and enhance wildlife habitat by practicing Leave No Trace principles. That means staying safe and keeping others, including wildlife, safe as well.

1. View wildlife from the safety of your car or from a safe distance. Stay at least 100 yards away from bears and at least 25 yards away from other large animals.
2. Never approach, touch or feed wildlife, even when an animal does not seem to be threatened by your presence.
3. Let wildlife know you're nearby. When hiking, be sure to bring a friend, carry bear spray, stay on designated trails and make noise at regular intervals.

Culture Inspired By Nature

THE ARTS ABOUND IN WESTERN MONTANA

Allez! Missoula. © JOURNAL OF LOST TIME

Sassafras Arts Crafts & Antiques, Kalispell. © HONEYTREK

Tucked into our pristine Montana landscapes are cultural treasures that aren't always expected in a state known more for its natural beauty. But it's precisely this landscape that inspires the artists, writers and performers who create here. With a cultural personality that includes American Indian traditions, western lore and a splash of cosmopolitan flair, there's plenty to discover.

The visual arts are celebrated here. The Cawdrey Gallery in Whitefish is just one example of the caliber of galleries you'll find in our small towns. Lively art walks liven up downtown streets, and many renowned artists call the region home. You'll also find the work of local artists proudly displayed on the walls of businesses throughout the region.

History buffs: Visit the Conrad Mansion Museum in Kalispell, Ninepipes Museum of Early Montana in Charlo, Missoula's Historical Museum at Fort Missoula, Holt Heritage Museum in Lolo (by appointment only), Historic St. Mary's Mission in Stevensville and the Daly Mansion in Hamilton.

If you're curious about "big-city" living in Western Montana, Missoula—our region's cultural hub—is the place. With a vibrant, historic and walkable downtown, Missoula is one of the state's most well-rounded cities for live music (including the Missoula Symphony), art galleries and museums (including the Missoula Art Museum, Montana Museum of Art and Culture, and Radius Gallery), a year-round First Friday art walk, multiple museums (like the Montana Natural History Center), the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation and Smokejumper Visitor Center, and live performances at the Missoula Community Theatre.

The Flathead Valley is another hotbed for arts, culture and Montana history. Home to several museums (like the Hockaday Museum of Art in Kalispell, the Miracle of America Museum in Polson and the Whitefish Ski Heritage Museum), art galleries (including Abbreccia Gallery), and a Broadway-caliber performing arts scene (which includes the Alpine Theatre Project, Bigfork Summer Playhouse, Glacier Symphony and Chorale, and Port Polson Players), you'll find plenty of year-round entertainment here.

In addition to being named "One of the 50 greatest Towns in the West," Bigfork has been named "One of the Best Small Art Towns in America." This storybook village offers an impressive arts scene with numerous galleries, artists in residence, and artistic establishments.

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO: Visit glaciermt.com/arts-and-culture, glaciermt.com/galleries and glaciermt.com/museums for information.

12 VENUES THAT SET THE STAGE

KettleHouse Amphitheater in Bonner. © NEUBAUER MEDIA COURTESY OF LOGJAM PRESENTS

It may come as a surprise to visitors that this corner of Montana boasts live concerts that rival those of even the biggest cities in the country. From cozy, intimate venues to open-air amphitheaters with breathtaking views, check out these live music destinations and discover Western Montana's diverse and vibrant music scene.

Abayance Bay Marina

This scenic stage along the shores of Lake Koocanusa in Eureka offers the chance to stretch out on the lawn at their annual summer concert series complete with an on-site restaurant.

Big Sky Brewing Company Amphitheater

Missoula's Big Sky Brewing Company has hosted concerts in the expansive backyard of its taproom since 2004, with national acts spanning folk, rock and beyond.

Home Ranch Bottoms

On the edge of Glacier National Park in the tiny outpost of Polebridge, this little stage is as local as they come, featuring live drinks, fresh food and lawn games.

KettleHouse Amphitheater

Tucked away on the banks of the Blackfoot River near Missoula, this scenic, state-of-the-art amphitheater offers a live music experience that could only be found in Montana.

Mission Valley Live

Since 2015, Mission Valley Live has aimed to enrich communities in Montana's Mission Valley with affordable live performing arts from two primary venues in Polson and Ronan.

Stonefly Lounge

This lively lounge brings big entertainment to the little town of Coram with free concerts featuring up-and-coming bands from far and wide, alongside scratch-made pizza and local beer.

The Top Hat

Missoula's go-to spot for intimate live performances features both local talent and renowned national artists, as well as specialty cocktails and eclectic bites.

University of Montana Adams Center

Nestled on the University of Montana campus, the Adams Center isn't just a hub for Grizzly Athletics—it's also a Missoula icon and a prime destination for music enthusiasts.

Wachholz College Center

The state-of-the-art Wachholz College Center on the campus of Flathead Valley Community College in Kalispell doubles as a dynamic live music venue.

Washington-Grizzly Stadium

This stadium on the UM campus is the ultimate Western Montana destination for a once-in-a-lifetime concert experience a la The Rolling Stones, Paul McCartney and Pearl Jam.

Whitefish Theatre Company/O'Shaughnessy Center

Home of the annual Whitefish Summer Concert series, this local stage is dedicated to bringing the classic music of the past to town through tribute bands from all around.

The Wilma

A captivating landmark in the heart of Missoula, this historic theater is a hub of the city's cultural and entertainment scene with cinema, film festivals and live musical performances.

Farmers Market Magic

29 OUTDOOR COMMUNITY MARKETS

 Missoula Farmers Market. © VAGABOND3

Our very popular outdoor community markets are a big part of Western Montana's allure, and a late spring through early autumn visit to Montana isn't complete without a trip to one of these celebrated local favorites. Imagine strolling through the downtown streets of a small mountain town on a Saturday morning in the warm summer sunshine, welcomed by friendly locals, farmers and gardeners, bakers and makers. Friends and neighbors are gathered at coffee carts and food trucks, baked goods are in abundance, street musicians liven up every block and freshly picked wild huckleberries are ripe and ready.

Glacier Country's market scene boasts a truly unique experience set against one scenic backdrop after another. From fresh produce, local meats, cheeses and honey to all manner of locally-made arts and crafts like pottery, paintings, photography, jewelry, clothing and woodcarvings, these community gatherings offer a chance to support local growers, artisans and small businesses.

Missoula alone hosts three Saturday markets (as well as one on Tuesday), including a farmers market named one of the top 10 farmers markets in the West by Sunset magazine. If you find yourself in Whitefish on a summer Tuesday evening, visit their popular and lively farmers market, or head to the Bitterroot Valley for a market in Stevensville, Florence, Hamilton or Darby.

Western Montana's farmers markets offer an authentic glimpse of life in the Rocky Mountain West, and they provide the chance to get to know the heart and soul of Glacier Country—our lovely small towns.

SHOP MONTANA FROM MALL TO MARKET

handMADE Montana, Polson. © CAROL LYNN LAPOTKA

Western Montana's Glacier Country is not only renowned for its stunning landscapes and outdoor adventures but also for its diverse and unique shopping experiences, whether you're looking for outdoor gear, one-of-a-kind gifts and souvenirs or gourmet treats. From charming downtown districts to bustling malls and boutiques, this region offers something for every shopper. Embark on a shopping adventure as distinct as the region itself.

In downtown Whitefish, FORLOH is the place to gear up. Shop 100% Made in the USA apparel for all your outdoor endeavors, from hunting and fishing to swimming, snowsports and backcountry treks. Sappari blends modern style with the rustic charm of the region, offering sophisticated fashion, jewelry and accessories as well as distinctive home décor in a boutique experience.

Venturing south, downtown Kalispell is steeped in history and brimful of locally owned shops. Channel your inner cowboy or cowgirl at Western Outdoor and gear up for your ranch adventures with cowboy hats, boots, attire and more. Just down Main Street, The Montana Scene offers a collection of Montana-inspired gifts and apparel, perfect for capturing the essence of your visit to this picturesque region.

At the northern tip of Flathead Lake on Electric Avenue in Bigfork, Artisans art gallery showcases the incredible craftsmanship of local artists. Here, explore a diverse array of art, jewelry and décor, each piece reflecting the beauty of Montana. At Nancy O's Interiors, shop fun home décor with a Montana flair.

Moving on to the lively town of Missoula, Southgate Mall houses over 100 stores including Scheels, a massive store offering a wide range of sporting goods, outdoor gear and apparel. Also at the mall, The Last Best Store is the spot for Made in Montana gifts and art plus UM Griz and MSU Bobcats products.

INDOOR ACTIVITIES

- 1. Galleries: Painters, sculptors, potters, photographers and other artists are drawn to Western Montana, inspired by the natural beauty. Explore the region's numerous art galleries, in towns both big and small, exhibiting the incredible work of these fine artists and craftspeople.
- 2. Museums: Make a date with the past and visit our museums and historical societies containing everything from vintage and American Indian artifacts to antique motorcycles and murals. You'll also find the Contemporary American Indian Art Collection at the Missoula Art Museum.
- 3. Performing Arts: Take in a symphony, ballet, or live theater performance at a community playhouse. Western Montana boasts local theater companies, dance companies, symphony orchestras and more.
- 4. Taproom Tours: Our breweries, distilleries, wineries and cideries are open all year. Take a Montana flavor tour and sample some award-winning libations. Montana is ranked third in the nation for number of craft breweries per capita, after all.
- 5. Historic Homes: Visit the homes of former Copper King Marcus Daly, and the founder of Kalispell, Charles Conrad, and see how these businessmen and their families lived back in the day at the Daly Mansion in Hamilton and the Conrad Mansion Museum in Kalispell. You'll also find other historic homes throughout the region.
- 6. Spas: Add a health and wellness element to your getaway and pamper yourself with a restorative massage, body treatment, infrared sauna, float therapy, facial and more at one of our resorts, boutique day spas or wellness centers.

THE ABUNDANCE OF A MONTANA AUTUMN

There's no doubt fall is one of the loveliest times to explore Western Montana's Glacier Country. In addition to vibrant colors, visitation tends to quiet down a bit. The valleys and mountains say goodbye to the green shades of summer and hello to the brilliant and rich yellows and golds, as aspen, cottonwood and tamarack trees show off their perfectly coordinated hues.

TOP 5 FALL DRIVES

- 1. THE SEELEY SWAN: A hot spot for fall colors, the Seeley Swan Valley provides extraordinary views via the quiet corridor of U.S. Highway 83.
- 2. LAKE KOOCANUSA SCENIC BYWAY: What's better than a scenic byway? A scenic byway in autumn. Take in the golden hues as you drive along the reservoir.
- 3. HIGHWAY 200, SANDERS COUNTY: From Ravalli to Thompson Falls, Highway 200 travels through a beautiful, quiet valley with breathtaking river views.
- 4. HIGHWAY 12, LOLO TO IDAHO: This heavily forested, scenic route from the Bitterroot Valley into Idaho has you immersed in stunning fall color for most of the drive. Bonus: This is the same spot where Lewis and Clark crossed into Idaho in 1805.
- 5. HUNGRY HORSE RESERVOIR LOOP: Just outside Glacier National Park, this shoreline loop across from the South Fork of the Flathead River offers stunning mountain views.

TOP 5 FALL ACTIVITIES

- 1. GOLFING: Teeing up against the backdrop of our fall colors is a must, and Trestle Creek Golf Course in St. Regis is the perfect place to do it.
 - 2. FLY FISHING: Come fall, the rivers are quieter, but the fish are still biting, and the scenery is extra vibrant. Cast a line on the Kootenai River with Kootenai River Fishing Charters.
 - 3. SKALKAHO BEND PARK: This park in Hamilton is the perfect spot for taking a fall stroll or birding among the beauty of the Bitterroot Valley on a quiet autumn day.
 - 4. ATV RIDES: Power up for an off-road excursion and enjoy the fall colors by ATV. Book a trip with Action Rentals in Whitefish.
 - 5. FALL FESTIVALS: We celebrate all year long here, and fall is no exception. Plan your trip around a fall favorite, like Great Northwest Oktoberfest in Whitefish or McIntosh Apple Day in Hamilton.
- BONUS: Fall in Glacier Country is best paired with a seasonal beverage. Try local hard cider from one of a handful of cideries in the region.

Downhill Discovery

CONQUER THE ASCENT AND REVEL IN THE DESCENT

LEARN MORE about winter in Western Montana at glaciermt.com/winter and our downhill ski and snowboard areas at glaciermt.com/downhill-skiing.

There are few places where winter is embraced the way it is in Western Montana's Glacier Country, and with 300+ inches of snow, seven downhill ski areas, untouched backcountry terrain and miles of trails, it's no wonder Montana is often described as a powder-lover's playground.

Glacier Country's well-rounded, full-service downhill ski and snowboard areas range from popular resorts to undiscovered treasures. With a combined total of 11,500+ acres of skiable terrain, 385+ marked trails and affordable lift tickets, your options for hitting the slopes are endless.

1. World-class Whitefish Mountain Resort—ranked No. 3 in the top 20 of SKI magazine's 2020 annual reader survey—features 3,000+ acres of terrain, 113 marked trails and incredible views of the Flathead Valley and Glacier National Park, as well as on-mountain amenities like shopping, lodging and dining, and it's only 15 minutes from Whitefish.
2. Lookout Pass straddles the Montana/Idaho border west of Missoula. The snow falls early and in full force here, dropping around 400 inches a year. A family-friendly resort, Lookout offers a fun mix of easy, intermediate and expert runs, as well as on-site dining and two terrain parks.
3. In Libby, Turner Mountain offers excellent snow conditions, wide-open slopes, beautiful scenery, affordable lift tickets and no crowds. You can even rent the entire mountain and have the slopes all to yourself.
4. Montana Snowbowl pulls double duty as a local's favorite and extremist's dream. Featuring a 2,600-foot vertical drop, deep powder bowls and tree-lined runs, Snowbowl rounds out its offerings with a rustic, on-mountain lodge serving wood-fired pizza and famously good bloody marys.
5. Sitting at the very southern end of the Bitterroot Valley atop the Continental Divide on the Montana/Idaho border, Lost Trail Powder Mountain is perhaps one of the region's best-kept secrets, boasting 350 inches of annual snowfall and 69 marked trails on 1,800 acres.
6. Discovery Ski Area, affectionally known as Disco, is a local's hangout serving up expert thrills, beautiful views, steep terrain and uncrowded slopes with enough tree skiing, powder bowls, groomed trails and mogul runs for all skill levels.
7. Blacktail Mountain is an ideal family-friendly ski destination where you can carve turns in light, dry powder and take in brilliant views of Flathead Lake, Glacier National Park and the Mission Mountains.

8 Winter Adventures

ADJUST YOUR ALTITUDE IN A WESTERN MONTANA WINTER

Your options for winter exploration are many, and regardless of how you choose to revel in our epic terrain, the adventure is immeasurable—and best topped off with a hot springs soak. We recommend using the onX app in Snow Mode for backcountry mapping. Also, make sure to keep avalanche safety in mind and know before you go when heading out into the deep stuff.

1. Ice Fishing: Winter doesn't stop us from sinking a line in the water. The fish here bite year-round, and Montana's frozen lakes prove to be a totally fun, and sometimes rather relaxing, way to reel in the winter. Popular lakes include Flathead, Whitefish, Smith, Bitterroot, Salmon, Holland and Placid, as well as many hidden alpine gems.

2. Sleigh Rides: A fun activity for everyone from couples to families, there's nothing quite as cozy or idyllic in the winter as a horse-drawn sleigh ride. Book a sleigh adventure with Bar W Guest Ranch near Whitefish or Cripple Creek Horse Ranch in Trego. Both ranches offer a sleigh ride plus dinner combination, which makes for quite a unique and memorable evening.

3. Backcountry Skiing: Get off the beaten path and ski thousands of acres of backcountry terrain. Glacier National Park offers a sublime alpine tour and the Swan Valley boasts cold-smoke powder, or make your way to Jewel Basin for incredible spring skiing. Access higher elevations by guided snowcat or stay in a backcountry yurt.

4. Dog Sledding: Get behind a team of snow-savvy canines and mush through miles of Montana terrain. We have plenty of experienced outfitters available for short, guided trips as well as half-day and full-day excursions. For a more hands-on approach, mush your own team of dogs with the help of the experienced guides at Base Camp Bigfork.

5. Snowmobiling: Winter in Montana provides the perfect sled scene, with snow ghosts, powder playgrounds and deep trails leading to stunning views. Sled the remote and rugged Marias Pass Trail Complex featuring 45 miles of groomed and 35 miles of ungroomed trails straddling the Continental Divide. Rent a sled or go with a guide, like Rich Ranch in Seeley Lake, Swan Mountain Outfitters in Columbia Falls or Whitefish Marine. Or, get in touch with Action Rentals for sled rentals and gear.

6. Fat Biking: Winter biking is a trend that won't be going away anytime soon, and it's a wildly fun way to explore Western Montana. Fat bike around Missoula or Kalispell, or head to Tamaracks Resort in Seeley Lake or the Whitefish Bike Retreat Lodge and Campground, located a short drive from Whitefish. There you'll find on-site groomed trails and easy access to The Whitefish Trail. Fat bikes are equipped with extra-fat over-the-snow tires and can be rented in Missoula, Kalispell and Whitefish. Anyone who knows how to ride a bicycle will have no problem riding a fat bike.

7. Nordic Skiing: Classic and skate skiing offer a peaceful adventure. Glide along the Going-to-the-Sun Road in Glacier National Park or ski the park with a Glacier Adventure Guides tour. Other options include Seeley Creek Nordic Ski Trails, Glacier Nordic Center in Whitefish, the Bitterroot Valley's Chief Joseph Trail System, Dog Creek Lodge Nordic Ski Center in Olney, or Pattee Canyon, minutes from downtown Missoula.

8. Snowshoeing: The simplest way to explore our winter wonderland is to put on a pair of snowshoes. Western Montana boasts an expansive trail system, and snowshoeing is a great way to explore Glacier National Park and Montana's state parks in the winter. Take a snowshoe tour of the park with the guides at Whitefish Outfitters & Tours.

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO: Check weather forecasts ahead of time, dress appropriately for your activity and carry the right gear. Be prepared for winter driving conditions and check road reports in advance. Be cautious around frozen and ice-cold waterways. Be avalanche aware. Read more about recreating responsibly during winter in Western Montana at glaciermt.com/recreate-responsibly.

GAIN OUTSIDE PERSPECTIVE IN WESTERN MONTANA'S GLACIER COUNTRY

Western Montana's Glacier Country is more than just a location; it's an experience that fosters teamwork and fuels innovation. Nestled amid expansive landscapes, you'll discover captivating towns and cities, each offering a unique selection of meeting venues with modern amenities and cutting-edge technology. Choose from tranquil riverside lodges and beautifully restored barns to luxurious guest ranches and contemporary urban spaces. Missoula, Kalispell and Whitefish—our larger urban communities—each have their own vibrant downtowns and hotel convention spaces.

Immerse your team in the pristine Rocky Mountain air and breathtaking vistas. Our landscape sets the stage for big ideas and outdoor adventures. Savor mouthwatering culinary offerings that reflect the flavors of Montana and add a delicious touch to your meeting. Our region offers a wide array of off-site activities, ensuring that your team-building opportunities are as diverse as the Montana landscape itself.

Western Montana's Glacier Country is equipped with destination management companies that specialize in facilitating your meetings. Whether it's a hybrid event, corporate incentive, board retreat, convention or special gathering, these event specialists are here to help craft unforgettable Montana experiences for groups ranging from 10 to 1,000+.

WHERE TO MEET

To simplify your planning process, we've compiled a selection of exceptional properties for your consideration when arranging a meeting in Western Montana.

Board Retreats: We recommend a western experience at Meadow Lake Resort in Columbia Falls, the green o in Greenough, or Dancing Spirit Ranch in Columbia Falls.

Corporate Incentive: Montana's luxury guest ranches, personal service and vacation properties are becoming a favorite among planners. From all-inclusive stays at high-end resorts to authentic ranch retreats, try locations like Flathead Lake Lodge, The Ranch at Rock Creek, The Resort at Paws Up, Triple Creek Ranch, The Lodge at Whitefish Lake and RiverView Ranch.

Association Meetings and Conventions:

Montana has a surprising amount of ballroom space for meetings and conventions, especially in our three anchor cities of Kalispell (65,000 square feet), Whitefish (46,000 square feet), and Missoula (170,000 square feet)—which also boasts the University of Montana's expansive facilities and an incredible venue for large gatherings.

Offsite Venues for Receptions and Banquets:

Break out from your meeting venue and explore some of Montana's larger restaurants, breweries and bars. 101 Central in Whitefish, FINN in Missoula, Bias Brewing and Ashley Creek Historic Venue in Kalispell are all perfect for off-site events.

FOR GROUP AND INTERNATIONAL TOUR OPERATORS

Red bus tour in Glacier National Park. © ANDY AUSTIN

Montana captivates the hearts of both domestic and international travelers, offering authentic experiences, thrilling outdoor adventures and warm western hospitality. Our group tour and FIT (Free Independent Traveler) markets continue to flourish.

When it comes to planning group tours or crafting personal itineraries for international guests, we're here to help—and we have ready-to-go itineraries for motorcycle tours, motorcoach trips, hub-and-spoke adventures and self-guided trips for your FIT clients.

While our region is brimming with group travel options, the possibilities extend beyond Western Montana. Consider weaving our gorgeous landscapes into larger adventures, encompassing the beauty of the entire Northwest, Canada and the Great American West, including Montana, Idaho, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Imagine a Glaciers to Geysers itinerary uniting two of the nation's treasures—Glacier and Yellowstone national parks. Alternatively, make the most of Montana's proximity to Idaho and create a memorable journey with stops at Flathead Lake, Glacier National Park, downtown Boise, Idaho, and the Craters of the Moon National Monument & Reserve. You might also consider a two-nation vacation exploring some of our continent's most exquisite landscapes between the U.S. and Canada, where the majesty of the Rocky Mountains is simply stunning at every turn.

Vibrant Mountain Towns

OUTDOOR ADVENTURE MEETS WARM WESTERN HOSPITALITY

Western Montana spans 22,000 square miles, and a vibrant patchwork of 75+ communities creates the heart and soul of the region. These communities range in size from a few hundred residents to several thousand, and encompass eight counties and two Indian Reservations.

History, character, adventure and amazing scenery are everywhere you look. You'll find bustling downtowns, renowned farmers markets, 30+ craft breweries, cideries, distilleries, local gem shops, art galleries, annual festivals, world-class recreation, a university and, most importantly, the friendliest people in the West. Every community offers something different and something for everyone, every season of the year. Use the following pages to find Glacier Country's hidden gems and discover what makes every corner of this place unique.

NAVIGATE YOUR GETAWAY

The region is made up of three hub communities—our larger towns of Kalispell, Missoula and Whitefish—as well as nine scenic travel corridors. Each of these hubs and travel routes offers unique adventures and authentic Western Montana experiences.

LEARN MORE about our communities, including things to see and do, here:

Know before you go

Please travel and recreate responsibly while visiting our communities. Be kind, respectful and patient, and realize that some places may move at a slower pace than what you are used to. That's just how we do things around here sometimes.

3 HUB COMMUNITIES

Missoula is our largest hub, with 77,500 people, a university and an airport. Kalispell has 31,000 people and many visitors fly into its airport since it's the closest to Glacier National Park. Whitefish is quite a bit smaller with 8,500 people, but boasts a world-class ski resort. All three of our hubs offer walkable downtowns, diverse lodging, dining, shopping and entertainment, as well as ease of access to Montana's great outdoors.

9 TRAVEL CORRIDORS

From our hubs, we encourage you to venture down at least one of our nine travel corridors, which will take you to more rural and less crowded areas and communities. Perfect for a road trip, all of these drives are on well-traveled, paved roads (interstates and state highways) and a gas station is never too far away. Explore small-town charm, scenic byways, backroads adventure, backcountry exploration, winter recreation, luxury lodging, wildlife watching, history and culture, arts and music, or all of the above. You'll find hiking, biking, fishing, boating, golfing and multiple ways to play in the snow in every single corridor.

Recreational Marijuana

CONSUME CANNABIS RESPONSIBLY IN WESTERN MONTANA

Recreational marijuana is legal in Montana, but it's important to follow the rules of the law.

Buying Recreational Marijuana in Montana: Adults age 21 or older can purchase marijuana and marijuana products in Montana, including Montana residents, residents of other U.S. states and territories and international travelers. Valid identification is required for purchase, such as a driver's license or passport.

Purchasing Marijuana From a Dispensary: Dispensaries sell marijuana flower, edibles, tinctures, vaporizer cartridges, concentrates, topicals, smoking accessories and CBD products. Talk to the experienced "budtenders" to find out which products/strains are the safest and best for you. It is only legal to purchase marijuana from an approved dispensary, not from another individual.

Driving in Montana With Marijuana in Your Vehicle: You may drive with marijuana in your vehicle. It must be in its unopened, original packaging and stored outside of the car's passenger area. It is ILLEGAL to drive under the influence of marijuana in Montana.

Where You May Consume/Possess Marijuana in Montana: You may consume marijuana in private accommodations and private residences/property with the owner's permission.

You may NOT consume marijuana in outdoor public spaces or enclosed public spaces.

Possessing and consuming marijuana on tribal land in Montana is complicated; check Tribal Nation websites.

You may NOT possess or consume marijuana in Glacier National Park.

Crossing State Lines: It is illegal to cross state lines with marijuana in your possession. It is also illegal to fly with marijuana.

LEARN MORE about consuming cannabis responsibly in Montana, including legal purchase and possession amounts, at glaciermt.com/recreational-marijuana.

6 Unforgettable Experiences in Glacier Country

 Clearwater Canoe Trail. © GLACIER COUNTRY

Western Montana is brimming with adventures you won't find elsewhere. Here, nature's grandeur meets unique and out-of-the-ordinary experiences off the beaten path. Explore a ghost town, hike with a llama, or take in the cosmic show as night falls on our epic skies. Glacier Country is the place to find adventures you'll remember forever.

- 1. Clearwater Canoe Trail: Rent a kayak, canoe or paddleboard and head to the Seeley Swan Corridor to paddle this calm stretch of meandering river that empties into Seeley Lake. It's closed to motorized boats, creating a serene float through a dense willow marsh. See otters, turtles and great blue herons.
- 2. Stargazing: Jaw-dropping starry nights are part of Montana's allure. Glacier National Park is an official Dark Sky Park and you'll find observatories and excellent stargazing locations around the region. It's not hard to spot the Milky Way here, and occasionally the northern lights.
- 3. Garnet Ghost Town: Take a step back in time and get a glimpse of what life was like in the boom-and-bust mining days. Explore the well-preserved and fascinating remnants of a once-thriving, now-abandoned mining town named one of America's Coolest Ghost Towns by Travel + Leisure magazine.
- 4. Llama Trekking: Take a pack trip with a llama! This is a wildly fun way to explore the outdoors. Let a llama carry your gear for you while you enjoy the hike and focus on the scenery around you. It's fun for the whole family to spend time with these friendly and fascinating creatures.
- 5. Route Of The Hiawatha: Named a "Top 10 Pick" by USA Today, this 15-mile-long, family-friendly mountain bike trail follows along the crest of the Bitterroot Mountains and features 10 train tunnels and seven sky-high trestles. Don't miss the chance to bike this incredible Rails to Trails crown jewel.
- 6. Lavender Farms: Take in the sights and scents at a lavender farm like Purple Mountain Lavender in Lakeside and Big Sky Lavender Farms in Florence, both nestled among beautiful settings and offering house-made lavender products. Schedule a tour or a workshop.

Small Towns Lead to Big Adventures

COME PLAY IN MONTANA'S BITTERROOT VALLEY

Here in the Bitterroot Valley we're big on adventure. With eight towns, two mountain ranges and a lush river valley, there are plenty of ways to enjoy this picture-perfect destination. While the jagged peaks of the Bitterroot Mountains are filled with endless trails, high alpine lakes and outdoor experiences, history lovers will feel right at home exploring the valley's historic sites, museums and three national historic trails.

Lake Como and the blue-ribbon trout waters of the Bitterroot River provide year-round activities like fly-fishing and boating, as well as snowshoeing along the water's edge. Hikers will find easily accessible trails at the Lee Metcalf National Wildlife Refuge, Blodgett Canyon and Kootenai Creek, while skiers can cruise runs at Lost Trail Ski Area or take a snowmobile or ATV trip through the Sapphire Mountains. Top it all off with a hot springs soak.

Explore quaint downtowns in each of the Bitterroot Valley's communities, where you'll discover charming stores, art galleries and studios, coffee shops, breweries and restaurants, plus an array of accommodations. Attend popular events like the Annual Bitterroot Brewfest in July, Ravalli County Fair or Bitterroot Celtic Games & Gathering (both in August). Bitterroot Valley

Bear Creek Overlook. © VISIT MONTANA

Flanked by rolling foothills and rugged peaks, this scenic valley (home to the popular television series “Yellowstone”) offers Old West allure along the Bitterroot River, with numerous fishing access sites and 100+ miles of blue-ribbon trout streams. Bike the Bitterroot Trail, hike the Kootenai Creek Trail or play at Lake Como. Walk in the footsteps of Lewis and Clark at Travelers’ Rest State Park and discover “Where Montana Began” at St. Mary’s Mission. Tour the Daly Mansion—home of Copper King Marcus Daly—and find excellent birding and wildlife watching at Lee Metcalf National Wildlife Refuge. Breweries abound here—plus cideries, coffeehouses, good food, local shopping, museums, galleries, theater and Darby’s old-fashioned candy shop.

ELMO

glaciermt.com/elmo

This small community is located along the western shore of Flathead Lake in the beautiful Flathead Valley. The region is known for its popular—and delicious—Flathead cherries. Every July, the Kootenai Nation hosts the Standing Arrow Pow Wow in Elmo, a spirited celebration of the tribe's rich culture and traditions.

LAKE SIDE

glaciermt.com/lakeside

Hugging the western shore of Flathead Lake's northern end, Lakeside provides easy access to the water, making it a popular destination for summer visitors. Cruise the lake on a guided boat tour, stroll through locally owned shops or take in the views of the Swan Mountains. During the winter months, carve lines at the local ski area, offering panoramic vistas of Flathead Lake and Glacier National Park.

PABLO

glaciermt.com/pablo

Carrying a hearty legacy, Pablo was named for tribal member Michel Pablo—a rancher and stockman who played a role in saving the bison of Montana from extinction. Pablo is tribal headquarters for the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes and home to Salish Kootenai College, featuring a nine-hole golf course. Also noteworthy, the Pablo National Wildlife Refuge is a great spot for birding and wildlife watching, and the Three Chiefs Cultural Center, Museum & Gift Shop lets you experience the rich cultures of the Salish, Kootenai and Pend d'Oreille tribes.

Surrounded by some of Western Montana's most spectacular mountains and only a few minutes from Glacier National Park, this small community sits on the edge of
Hungry Horse Reservoir and Hungry Horse
Dam. You can take guided tours of the dam and learn about its history and present-day function. The 34-mile-long Hungry
Horse Reservoir is perfect for kayaking and stand-up paddleboarding. The town is home to local shops, lodging and plenty of huckleberry treats.

MARTIN CITY

glaciermt.com/martin-city

During the heyday of the Hungry Horse
Dam project, Martin City was a boomtown, home to dam workers and some of the heartiest and rowdiest residents in the region. Just a few minutes' drive from Glacier National Park and the nearby
Flathead National Forest, the region is ideal for remote, quiet camping with numerous trails into nearby wilderness areas. Time it right and experience one of Martin City's best traditions, the weekend-long Cabin Fever Days and Barstool Ski Races—a family friendly and roaring-good-time community event held annually in February.

POLEBRIDGE

glaciermt.com/polebridge

Less than a mile from the northwest entrance of Glacier National Park, the famous and tiny community of Polebridge is a must stop. The town consists of a handful of houses, cabins, a hostel and small ranches along the North Fork Road, with a much-loved mercantile as its hub. This one-stop shop for locals and visitors is known for its fresh baked goods, sandwiches and authentic personality.

WEST GLACIER

glaciermt.com/west-glacier

Adventures in and around Glacier National Park often begin and end in West Glacier.
As the western gateway to the park,
West Glacier has been dubbed "guide central." Local guides offer hiking and fly-fishing trips, whitewater and scenic rafting excursions, backcountry camping and trail rides. This bustling community has Montana-minded shops, great local dining and numerous accommodations, as well as a golf course with great views and affordable rates. Quieter during winter, West Glacier does offer lodging during the park's slower season.

Montana's quiet corner is a treasure trove of breathtaking vistas, glistening waters, hidden gems and enchanting small towns. Kootenai Country and the Cabinet Mountains Wilderness boast pristine lakes and backcountry camping, hiking and horseback riding in some of Montana's wildest country. The Lake Koocanusa Scenic Byway is a must, including the Libby Dam and Visitor Center, and don't miss Kootenai Falls and the famous Kootenai Falls Swinging Bridge. The historical village offers a walk back in time through a collection of restored buildings, and the No. 1 rated golf course in Montana is right here in Eureka at Wilderness Club. Also noteworthy, Libby's Heritage Museum and Cabinet Mountain Brewing Co.

MARION

glaciermt.com/marion

Located just off U.S. Highway 2 near Little Bitterroot Lake, Marion was initially used by railroad workers building the railroad line into Kalispell. Nearby Lost Trail National Wildlife Refuge provides a diverse habitat for various bird species, as well as deer, elk, moose, black bear, lynx and wolverines.

OLNEY

glaciermt.com/olney

Between Whitefish and Eureka, Olney sits in the heart of the Kootenai National Forest. The surrounding wilderness includes numerous ranger stations, cabins and lookouts maintained by the U.S. Forest Service. Many of the cabins and lookouts are available for overnight rental and provide a rustic wilderness experience complete with authentic Montana views. Go boating, canoeing and fishing on Olney's nearby lakes—Upper Stillwater and Whitefish Lake.

REXFORD

glaciermt.com/rexford

Situated in the lovely, forested corner of northwest Montana—between the Purcell and Salish mountains on the northern banks of Lake Koocanusa—the mountain community of Rexford is a recreation lover's paradise. Rexford is ideal for camping, hiking, hunting, snowmobiling, boating and rock climbing (at nearby Stone Hill). In addition, Rexford is a great starting point for driving the 67-mile Lake Koocanusa Scenic Byway.

STRYKER

glaciermt.com/stryker

Sitting on the western edge of the Whitefish Mountain Range, Stryker is a gateway to gorgeous mountain scenery and attractions in northwest Montana. Stryker provides access to both Upper Stillwater and Dickey lakes, with camping and day use as well as boating, fishing and wildlife watching. The area also boasts abundant hiking trails and numerous fishing streams. For outstanding views of the Tobacco and Flathead valleys, visit the Mount Marston Fire Lookout.

TREGO

glaciermt.com/trego

Between the Tobacco River and Dickey Lake, Trego attracts hunters from around the country in hopes of landing their big-game trophy. Nearby Dickey Lake is ideal for camping and day use, with plenty of boating, fishing and wildlife watching. Although Trego may seem like the middle-of-nowhere Montana, you'll find sleigh rides and chuckwagon dinners offered at the family-owned and operated Cripple Creek Horse Ranch.

glaciermt.com/troy

On the western banks of the Kootenai River at Montana's lowest elevation point, Troy and its surrounding wilderness area offer pristine unsettled country, attractions like the Troy Museum and Visitors Center and Ross Creek Cedar Grove, and a groomed snowmobile trail that connects Troy with Libby, Montana. Each year, Troy marks Independence Day with its Old Fashioned 4th of July celebration.

Beyond Glacier Country

MONTANA IN EVERY DIRECTION

While we tend to tout Glacier Country as perhaps the loveliest part of Montana (we admit it, we're partial), there are many other areas under this big blue sky that are just as lovely, just as serene and just as authentically beautiful as our corner of paradise. The whole of Big Sky Country offers endless jaw-dropping vistas and outdoor adventures, small towns worthy of a stop and a stay, off-the-beaten-path surprises and genuine western treasures.

Our great state is full of small businesses, thriving communities and friendly folks ready to show you Montana's true nature. We love it here, and we're pretty certain you will, too. Here's a list of places that can help you get on the road to your most unforgettable vacation experience yet: Montana, USA.

Find Your Montana Moment

8 PERFECT VIEWS IN WESTERN MONTANA

1. Libby Dam: This powerful dam that holds back the Lake Koocanusa Reservoir is a site to behold, and views of the dam can be seen from the Lake Koocanusa Scenic Byway. The nearby Souse Gulch day-use area offers playgrounds, picnic shelters and boat ramp access to the lake, as well as a stunning view of the lake.

2. Holland Falls: While Holland Falls is viewable from the shore of Holland Lake, set out on the 1.6-mile-long hike in the Holland Falls National Recreation Area. This easy hike puts you up close with the waterfall and provides expansive views of the lake and the Mission Mountains.

3. Ross Creek Cedars: About 29 miles south of Troy off State Highway 56 on Bull Lake and Ross Creek Cedars Road 398, find 100 acres of 1,000-year-old western red cedar trees, some of which are more than 8 feet in diameter. An interpretive walking trail, just under a mile long, explains the area's ecology and history, and intermittently follows along the scenic Ross Creek.

4. Blodgett Canyon: This local-favorite hiking spot just outside Hamilton is one of the Bitterroot's best. It's also popular with rock climbers. Follow the tranquil Blodgett Creek 3.5 miles deep into the canyon along breathtaking cliffs and spires, with beautiful foliage and a stunning waterfall.

5. Mission Mountains: Travel north on U.S. Highway 93 from Missoula through the small town of Ravalli. As you climb Ravalli Hill, be sure to keep an eye on the rolling hills to the left, as they are part of the CSKT Bison Range and home to 350 head of bison. Upon cresting Ravalli Hill, focus your eyes straight ahead for a jaw-dropping view of the Mission Mountains.

6. The "M": This is a Missoula must, and—though slightly steep—the Missoula Valley view is well worth it. This local gem is a .75-mile switchback trail that ends at the giant letter M on Mount Sentinel above the University of Montana.

7. Cut Bank Trail: Explore Cut Bank Creek Coulee on this vibrant little city's unpaved 2-mile Coulee Trail. Take in beautiful views of the gorge to the south and the majestic Rocky Mountains to the west, and don't miss the giant penguin while you're in town.

8. St. Regis-Paradise Scenic Byway: From St. Regis, take one of the most scenic drives in Western Montana. This easy, curving road travels along the Clark Fork River and through the Lolo National Forest before connecting with Highway 200 near the small town of Paradise. Be sure to take advantage of the pullouts along the road for uninterrupted views of this region's forested landscape.

THE PEAK OF Adventure

The sublime nature of America's first national park doesn't stop at park boundaries. It spills north into Montana's Yellowstone Country, where adventure is wide open. Experience world-class outdoor recreation and captivating mountain towns in one incredible place.
